THE PINNACLE CLUB was founded in 1921 for women climbers to develop as independent rock climbers and mountaineers. As part of its centenary celebrations it has undertaken a project to preserve and share the rich history of the Pinnacle Club - spotlighting women's longstanding involvement and achievements in climbing and mountaineering, rebalancing a narrative which to date has primarily been about men.

You can find more information on our activities at: pinnacleclub.co.uk

THE ALPINE CLUB, the world's first mountaineering club, was founded in 1857. It was an all-male club for over one hundred years until it voted to admit women alpinists in 1974. The Ladies' Alpine Club was founded in 1907 and the two amalgamated in 1975. The Alpine Club is delighted to be joining with the Pinnacle Club in celebrating our female members who made such pioneering strides in women's mountaineering.
